

AI, Science, Data, Information: A Brave New World for International Law

Hellenic Branch of the ILA – Annual Conference – 1 April 2022 – 10:00-14:30 [EET]*

10:00-10:15 Opening Remarks [Maria Gavouneli, Professor, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens]

10:15-11:15 Panel 1: AI and Aspects of Sovereignty* [Moderator: Maria Gavouneli, Professor, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens]

Eleni Anagnostopoulou, Ph.D student at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

Digital sovereignty: redefining the concept of sovereignty under international law?

Foto Pappa, PhD student at the Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies

Digital agriculture: A problem for the right to food sovereignty?

Lydia Veneri, Ph.D student at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

AI and blockchain as a solution to protect big data

11:15-11:30 Break

11:30-12:30 Panel 2: AI and Human Rights [Moderator: Vassilis Pergantis, Assistant Professor, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki]

Dr. Ioanna Pervou, Adjunct Lecturer at the Democritus University of Thrace

AI surveillance during public health emergencies: human rights considerations

Anastasia Karagianni, Ph.D student at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

AI & the challenges to international and regional human rights legal framework

Alexandra Ziaka, Research Officer to the Human Rights, Big Data and Technology Project (HRBDT) of the Human Rights Centre, University of Essex; External advisor of the Biomedical Research Foundation of the Academy of Athens

Businesses' corporate responsibility for a human rights-centred Artificial Intelligence

Efstratios Koulierakis, PhD student at the University of Groningen

The Right to Privacy in a Digital World: Are Knowledge Graphs a Problem or a Solution

 Panel in the context of the project "Borderless Sovereignty: Challenges and Perspectives", funded by the Hellenic

Foundation for Research & Innovation.

12:45-13:00 Break

13:00-14:00 Panel 3: AI and Security [Moderator: Konstantinos Antonopoulos, Associate Professor, Democritus University of Thrace]

Dr. Tamas Molnar, Visiting lecturer on international law, Corvinus University of Budapest; Legal research officer, EU Agency for Fundamental Rights (Vienna)

Algorithmic decision making in migration and security in the EU: challenges in ensuring effective remedies

Triantafyllos Kouloufakos, LL.M, Attorney-at-Law

The cyber norm to protect critical infrastructure

Eleni Katopodi, Research Associate at the Technische Universität München

Qu'ils mangent de la brioche': How Digital Assets annul the Effectiveness of Sanctions

Dr. Themistoklis Tzimas, Adjunct Lecturer at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

Data manipulation and weaponization

14:15-14:30 Closing remarks [Dr. Kyriaki Noussia, Associate Professor, University of Reading School of Law]